Thanksgiving Services Today. The customary Thanksgiving services will be held in the Presbyterian church this morning at 10:30. The sermon will be preached by Rev. Robinson, of the Methodist church, and some good music rendered.

Read the Ad. Mr. A. C. Sine, the contractor and lumber man, of Stanford, places his ad in THE RECORD this issue. He is doing some work here now, and is prepared to furnish satisfactory terms to all wanting anything in his line. THE RECORD can recommend Mr. Sine as a first-class business man, and a reliable gentleman.

Modern Prodigals. Rev. J. C. Massee will begin on next Sunday night at the Baptist church, a series of sermons on "Modern Prodigals." There will be five of the sermons as follows: 1 On Prodigal Fathers, 2 Prodigal Mothers, 3 Prodigal Sons, 4 Prodigal Daughters, 5 Prodigal Christians. Mr. Massee says these are some of the strongest sermons he preaches and cordially invites the public hear them.

Finishing Touches. The opera house is now being plastered and the carpenters are completing their work. The scenery has arrived and as soon as the mechanics get through it will be placed. The chairs will be arranged differently from what they were and will give a good view of the stage from any part of the building. The electric lights now doing service are only temporary, the regular ones being in clusters of different colors. Carpets will be placed upon the aisles, each seat numbered so as to prevent confusion. The advance man of a troupe which was compelled to cancel dates on account of smallpox in southern Kentucky, was here last week, but no dates were given him, as the scaffolding now takes up the entire floor space.

Circuit Court. The November term of the Garrard Circuit Court convened Monday morning, Judge Sauley on the bench. The usual charge was given the grand jury by the judge, after which the work of the court was gone into. The following is a list of the jurors.

GRAND JURORS. T. B. Robinson, Foreman. John Hill, D. M. Lackey, T. I. Herring, G. T. Pal'ad, J. F. Pettus, Henry Patterson, Jno. Anderson, Jno. G. Doty, R. K. Conn, W. B. Ray, Jesse Doty.

PETIT JURY. M. F. Rout, T. J. Hatcher, O. T. Layton, M. D. Hughes, Wm. Stone, C. W. Mitchell, Bryant Ballard, Ed Norris, W. R. Cook, Eugene Berkele, Jack Adams, F. B. Crow, J. L. Warner, H. C. Arnold, J. N. Hullett, Hunter Horne, Ed Price, J. N. Denny, A. D. Hughes, Jas. Guynn, J. T. Holtzclaw, Samp Archer, Eb Cook, Dave Thompson.

Harvey Payne was fined $20 for disturbing religious worship. The bail bond of Mack Jennings, $100, was declared forfeited.

Rube Scott was fined $10 for killing stock. The case of Gillis Prather for killing Burton at Paint Lick, was then called and the following jury selected: Dave Thompson, C. W. Mitchell, Ed Cook, Hunter House, Ansil George, James Thompson, Clate Teater, Wm. Sugars, Wm. Bland, George T. Farris, J. R. Haselden, Jno. T. Holtzclaw. The case is now on trial, but court adjourned until tomorrow, no session being held today.

Winter has set in and its time you were looking around for a place to buy your boots, shoes, clothing and underwear. Remember R. L. Jennings & Co. keep everything in that at remarkably low prices.

Loyal Legion. There will be an important meeting of the Loyal Legion at the Christian church next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Business of great importance is to be attended to and a full attendance is earnestly desired.

Communion Sunday. Communion services will be held at the Presbyterian church next Sunday morning, conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. L. McKee. The usual preliminary services will be held Friday and Saturday evenings.

Death of Mrs. Pollitt. Rev. Pollitt, presiding elder of this district, who was to preach here last Sunday, wrote that his wife was too ill for him to be present. She has since died and was buried at Harrodsburg today. Mrs. G. M. Patterson, of this city, who was a great friend of Mrs. Pollitt, attended the funeral.

Fresco Artist. Harry Israel, a scenic and fresco artist, has located in Lancaster for a few weeks and has been doing some splendid work. He is now working on S. C. Denny's parlor, and as soon as completed, he will fresco the Opera House ceiling and walls. This latter job will consume much of his time, but he would like to close contracts on any other work now.

A Fine Show. The Nashville Students gave a clean, first-class entertainment at the opera house in this city, and the large audience was delighted with every "turn." They carry two big bands and 45 people. At night, the two bands combined and gave a concert in front of the opera house. This music was the best we ever heard from a brass band. They played several selections which the average band could not touch with a forty-foot pole, and were loudly applauded by the large crowd that collected and stood shivering until the last selection was finished. If this troupe visits Lancaster again, standing room will be at a premium.

Curtis F. Burnam.

(Louisville Times) The most interesting personality in the new State Senate will be Hon. Curtis F. Burnam, from the district composed of the counties of Madison, Estill Lee and Powell. Born in 1820 and graduated at Yale in the class of 1840, he was elected a member of the Legislature in 1851; in 1852 he was a Presidential Elector for Scott and Graham; served two more terms in the Legislature; in 1863 was the Republican nominee for United States Senator and was defeated by James Guthrie; in 1864 was the Lincoln and Johnson Elector for the State-at-large, and in 1875 was appointed by President Grant Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. Mr. Burnam has been for nearly forty years president of a bank at Richmond; has the degree of LL. D. from Centre College; one of his sons is a member of the Court of Appeals and another has served in the Lower House of the Legislature. In all the States there is no finer specimen of the gentleman of the old school, and his presence will add to the dignity, culture and courtesy of a body sadly in need of those graces.

On Dec. 1, Dr. W. S. Beazley will move his office to rooms over Dr. Kincaid's office, Bookout property, Danville street.

Good Job For Berkele. The many friends of Mr. W. A. Berkele are glad to know he has been giving a good job at Frankfort. Gov. Bradley has made him keeper of the arsenal, a place which carries a good salary with it and is quite responsible.

For Rent. Brick, corner storeroom, with dry cellar under the entire building, and the best location in Lancaster. For particulars, call on or address J. C. HEMPHILL.

Chance of Your Life. The offer made by Fuller & Simpson to sell their stock of Queensware at cost, has been accepted by many delighted patrons. The sale closes Dec. 15th. They have tea sets, toilet sets, lamps, glassware and dinner sets in great variety, all up-to-date and handsome.

One means of gaining happiness (Helen Spencer contends in the December Ladies' Home Journal) is the art of laying aside in the evening all the work and duties of the day. Every person ought to have some simple evening diversion as a relaxation, even if it is only the pleasure of having a good magazine to read aloud, or some topic of interest to discuss, or some simple pleasure to share with others.

Electric Dogs. The great Chesapeake & Ohio Railway always in the lead in appliances for the safety and speed of its trains, has put in a system of electric "dogs" to prevent operators from sleeping. The dog is placed on the inside of the rail some distance from the station and when the flange of the car wheel strikes it, sets a gong to ringing in the operator's room, making it impossible for him to sleep and fail to note the passage of the train and announce it to the station ahead.

About The Railroad. Col. L. Hubble, right of way agent for the Southern Railway, came home yesterday to spend Thanksgiving. He tells THE RECORD that he has secured the right of way for the extension on over one-half the route, and will return to complete the work immediately. He has accomplished his work with remarkable rapidity, and the Southern certainly selected the right man in the right place when they secured him. He tells us he recently received a letter from Mr. Wells, the chief engineer, urging him to press the work, as they wanted all the preliminaries completed by January 1, so they could be able to let contracts for construction by January 10, and complete the road from Burgin to Jellico during next year. The surveys on the Danville and Stanford route are still at work and have reached a point in Pulaski county, near Woodstock, and claim they have a good line in every respect. They will connect with Mr. Respass' line at Dallas, Pulaski county.

A Mass Meeting. The mass meeting called for Sunday afternoon to protest against seating Congressman Roberts, drew many people to the Court House. The meeting was opened by a short talk by Rev. Massee, who, in a few well-chosen words stated its object. He was followed by Mr. W. I. Williams, who proceeded to give his views upon the seating of Roberts, and told the audience that he believed Roberts was entitled to the seat, and would be given the certificate and seated, but that the thing to do was to petition congress to unseat him because of conduct unbecoming a congressman, etc. Dr. McKee followed and said he was opposed to seating Roberts, but did not know for certain that congress could do so, after they had once admitted him. It was agreed to make the petition read that "If congress has the power," etc. A rising vote was taken upon the petition offered and everybody stood up. The meeting then adjourned, and we presume the fate of the man of wives is hanging in the balance. The music, under the skillful direction of Mrs. Patterson, was beautiful and the audience enjoyed it very much. The solo by Mr. Richard Ward was especially fine, and we heard many compliments passed upon it.

Death of John Embry. John. B. Embry, the well-known cattle buyer, died last week at Havana, of yellow fever. He was in Cuba for the purpose of superintending the construction of stock yards. Mr. Embry was well known in this county and very popular among stockmen and others who knew him. He lived at Nicholasville.

Rev. Massee's Splendid Work. Rev. Massee last Sunday stated that when he came to Lancaster his prayer was that he would add fifty names to the church's membership during the year. His prayers had been answered and the number was, that day, fifty-three. Rev. Bow left Sunday and Mr. Massee continues the meeting 'til 11 p.m., when it comes to a close. The number of conversions named above have been made during Mr. Massee's entire stay here, which has hardly been one year. Our people are very much attached to him, and his earnestness and genuine christianity have made many warm admirers for him.

THURSDAY, November 30 1899

HOLIDAYS have become so numerous that people seldom stop to think of their purpose. In fact, they are so close together that no attention is paid to them by the average citizen, who goes about his business the same as usual. The greed of the human race for money has become so strong that many would not close their places on Sunday if the law did not compel them to do so. This is a sad plight, but it seems to be "the thing," so we suppose its all right. We think that next to the Sabbath, today, Thanksgiving, should be the most strictly observed of any. People who give it the least thought are the ones who should be the loudest in singing praises to God for permitting them to exist. The men who go through the world stealing, swearing, slandering, never working, backbiting, and oppressing the poor, should not only take up the time today, but occupy the next 365 days in thanking a long-suffering Power that they have been permitted to remain upon the earth so long. The money grabber should not only put in that much time but he should ask his neighbors to give him a lift in extending his thanks for being permitted to take up space on the earth. The poor man should return thanks that he has not been permitted to starve, or been sold out of house and home by some one who "had to close up my outstanding affairs." The GENUINE Christian will not have much trouble in fixing up his returns, as it will only be necessary for him to give a "review" of his daily prayers, which are on record above. The hypocrite should thank heaven that the church building did not tumble on him or the earth open and swallow him, as he occupied his front seat and consumed the time in studying over his "business" matters. The Sunday-only Christian should be thankful that the law compels him to close his place on the Sabbath, so that he is thereby reminded that he must put on his long face and get out the old, sleek, prince albert coat. We editors are thankful that we are alive, and doubly grateful to know that only 999 out of every 1,000 people know how to run a paper, consequently the profession is not over crowded.

The people are tearing the wigs over Congressman Roberts having three wives, and rant about as though all the other members of the National houses were saints. We were in Washington once and heard a fellow say that the most handsomely furnished "residence" in the capital was kept exclusively for representatives and senators. Turn out all the members who wander from the straight and narrow path, and Uncle Sam will soon have to rent out his capitol for a market house.

Gov. BRADLEY has set Monday the 18th day of December as the time for electing a congressman to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. Evan E. Settle, and the usual quota of chronic candidates over there are, as they have been for many years, trying to convince the dear people that they are the fellows to fill the place. The remains of Mr. Settle were not in the coffin ere the scramble for his shoes began.

UNCLE GEORGE DEWEY got along all right until he took a woman into the case. He gave the house to her, she in turn gave it to his son, so the devil is now to pay. Get back on the ocean, old man, where you belong. We never knew a man to fool around where he had no business but what he got in trouble. Every fellow to his trade, Uncle George. As a land lubber, you are a failure.

The battleship Kentucky proved more than was claimed for her on the trial trip. The report that she would not take kindly to water proved a fake. Any Kentuckian likes to swim in water. If the originator of this gag would have shaped his witicism to read that she sprung a leak and would not let in water, it would have been phunier.

We notice that our good friend, Mr. R. W. Brown, managing editor of the Louisville Times, has, upon advice of a physician, been spending a few days in the country to recuperate his health. Bob is an honorable man, and the stench from the political mess in Louisville doubtless turned his stomach, and caused his illness.

ALL this flourish over the seating of Congressman Roberts is a waste of time upon the part of the good women of the W. C. T. U. If the party in the majority can use the man of wives, he will remain in his seat, but if he cannot be "used" he will be taken by the seat of his breeches and cast into the Potomac river.

SOME of the papers are deploring the formation of a bottle trust. This will not bother us in the least. We have another place to store liquids and have never yet had enough surplus to need a bottle to put it in.

It is frequently said recently, that "The eyes of the nation are upon Kentucky." Yes, and while the nation stands rubbing at us, she also has a firm clinch upon her nasal organ.

If the money squandered buying that home for Admiral Dewey had been distributed among the poor boys who did the fighting, there would have been no such disgusting state of things as are now existing by reason of the Admiral giving away the present.

THE republicans and democrats have gotten things in such a sloppy mess that the prohibs ought to be given control for a while to let things "dry" out.

THE indications are that there will be a Military Ball at the inauguration of Kentucky's next governor. The old-time dance has about played out, anyhow.

THE State Election Commissioners will meet at Frankfort next Saturday, December 2, to canvass the returns from the recent election.

Free of Charge.

Any adult suffering from a cold settled on the breast, bronchitis, throat or lung troubles of any nature, who will call at J. E. Stormes' drug store, will be presented with a sample bottle of Boschee German Syrup, free of charge. Only one bottle given to one person, and none to children without order from parents.

James H. Williams, a merchant at Falmouth, filed suit against Col. James W. Cookendorfer, a wealthy farmer of this county, for $10,000 damage for alienation of his wife's affections. Williams and wife have been living together since 1867, and have grad-

For Hoarseness.

Geo. A. Pontins, Upper Sandusky, O., writes: I have been using Foley's Honey and Tar for sore throat and hoarseness and find it the best remedy I ever tried. It stopped the Cough immediately and relieved all soreness. C. C. & J. E. Stormes. 1m

Hon. W. W. Combs, late Democratic candidate for the Legislature in Madison county, will contest the election of Capt. W. T. Harris.

About $40,000 was subscribed at the morning service of the Fourth avenue Methodist church, Louisville, for the erection of a new church building.

Used by British Soldiers in Africa.

Capt. C. G. Dennison is well known all over Africa as commander of the forces that captured the famous rebel Galshe. Under date of Nov. 4, 1897, from Vryburg, Bechuanaland, he writes: "Before starting on the last campaign I bought a quantity of Chamberlain's Cough, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, which I used myself when troubled with bowel complaint, and had given to my men, and in every case it proved most beneficial." For sale by R. E. McRoberts, Druggist. 1m

The Navy Department awarded contracts for six 3,600 ton cruisers.

The new Havana-American cigar syndicate, with capital of $10,000,000, has begun business.

Thousands of men and women suffer from piles, especially women with female weakness have this suffering to contend with in addition to their other pains. TABLER'S BUCKEYE PILE OINTMENT will quickly effect a cure. Price, 50 cts. in bottles, tubes 75 cts. C. C. & J. E. Stormes. 1m

The Filipino Government and army are disappearing like chaff before a wind. The latest capture is Buencamino, Secretary of State, and chief brains of the rebels, who is now a prisoner in Manila. Aguinaldo is hard pressed. In a fortnight his army has dwindled from 2,000 to perhaps 200. Desertions are common and provincial officers previously hostile are now anxious to get to Manila and obtain a permanent hold on their offices.

A friend in need is a friend indeed. That is exactly what Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is. It is the mother's help when she is suddenly awakened in the night by the ominous husky cough, and labored breathing, of her babe. It is the safe resort of the youth or adult when he has "caught cold" and there is coughing and irritation of the mucous membrane of the throat. It allays the irritation and cures the cold. For sale by R. E. McRoberts, druggist. 1m

The court of appeals sustained the action of Circuit Judge Jones in requiring the Nelson county election officers to certify the W. T. Taylor votes for W. S. Taylor. No opinion was handed down, the motion to dissolve Judge Jones' injunction simply being overruled. The court was not unanimous, two of the Democratic Judges refusing to concur. The Democratic members of the Nelson county board signed the certificates, but will send a protest to the State Election Commissioners. Since the Appellate Court decision some of the Democratic leaders talk of resorting to injunction proceedings to prevent the counting of the vote in contested counties by the State Board.

Discovered by a Woman.

Another great discovery has been made, and that too by a lady in this country. "Disease fastened its clutches upon her and for seven years she withstood its severest tests, but her vital organs were undermined and death seemed imminent. For three months she coughed incessantly, and could not sleep. She finally discovered a way to recovery, by purchasing of us a bottle of Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, and was so much relieved on taking first dose, that she slept all night; and with two bottles, has been absolutely cured. Her name is Mrs. Luther Lutz. Thus writes w. c. Ham-nick & Co., of Shelby, N. C. Trial bottle free at R. E. McRoberts Drug Store

Dr. Traylor, of Bryantsville, who is a mighty good friend of THE RECORD, and has done noble work for us, was in town Monday and tells us he is delighted with his new location.

Mr. T. L. Bradshaw and wife were called to Lexington by the death of their brother-in-law, Mr. George Murphy. They were accompanied by their grand-daughter, little Sue Anna Lear.

Hon. J. H. Miller, familiarly dubbed "Happy Jack," was in town Monday, and honored THE RECORD with a call. We have a splendid article from his pen, which will appear in a short time.

Danville Advocate: Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. Woolfolk left yesterday for Mobile, whence they will sail Tuesday for South America to visit their daughter, Mrs. Augustus Peters. They will be absent a month or six weeks.

Mr. T. Yates Hudson, of Marcellus neighborhood, was in town Monday and paid us a pleasant call. Yates is an old State Guard man and belongs to the famous Co. F. of the Louisville Legion back in the days when Proctor Knott was governor. The writer having "it," bled and died in the State Guards, Mr. Hudson's visit was doubly enjoyable.

Mr. Robert Bettis and Miss Minnie Daly were married at the home of the bride's father, Mr. Cyrus Daly, near Marksbury, Tuesday afternoon. The bride is a charming young woman, who is possessed with many good traits of character. Mr. Bettis is one of the best known young men in the county, and numbers his friends by the score. He is a strong stand-by of THE RECORD and we wish him all the happiness and prosperity to be found in this world.

This morning, at the horrible hour of 2:52, ye editor bled himself to Lexington, to spend the day with his aunt, Miss Kate Walker and sister, Mrs. W. G. Dunlap. We had three invitations to stick our shins under tables near home, but we have never yet tried to spend a holiday at home but what some fellow (who gives about one job in every twelve months) comes for printing which must be done that day. Its needless to add that when a man brings in a job to be done so quickly that it invariably lies in the office about a week before he comes after it. Such is life.

Miss Alice Hudson was the charming hostess of a beautiful party Thursday evening. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John S. Baughman, Misses Letitia Brown, Francis Collier, Annie Royston, Margaret Murphy, Bessie and Jennie Burnside, Carrie Curry, Sallie and Mattie Elkin and May Z. Hughes; Messrs Logan, Robinson, Walker, Swinebroad, McRoberts, Farrar, Ryan, Beazley, Frisbie, West and Kinnaird. Elegant refreshments were served, the dining room decorated in pink and white. The souvenirs to ladies, were little gilt wish-bones tied with pink ribbon. One large one for the gentleman who made the best wish. It was left for the ladies to decide and Mr. Sam Duncan won the prize.

Chamberlain's Pain Balm Cures Others, Why Not You. My wife has been using Chamberlain's Pain Balm, with good results, for a lame shoulder that has pained her continually for nine years. We have tried all kinds of medicines and doctors without receiving any benefit from any of them. One day we saw an advertisement of this medicine and thought of trying it, which we did with the best of satisfaction. She has used only one bottle and her shoulder is almost well. —Adolph L. Millett, N. H. For sale by R. E. McRoberts, Druggist. 1m

MORE LOCAL.

Mr. Steve Walker, one of Garrard county's most prominent and popular farmers, was elected president of the National Fox Hunter's Association at the annual meeting at Estill Springs last week. Mr. Walker is a great fancier of the hound, and is probably the most widely known hunter in this section of the country.

For Hog Killing. Benge & Miller have constructed first-class slaughter pens and are prepared to kill and dress your hogs or cattle at reasonable figures. The pens are located at end of Totten avenue and are up-to-date in every particular. Have your meat killed where it can be properly handled and by expert hands. (9-21tf)

McClure's Magazine for December will contain the introductory chapters of "The Life of the Master," by Dr. John Watson ("Ian Maclaren"), which is to be a leading feature of the Magazine for some months to come. It will be illustrated from special drawings and paintings by Corwin K. Lincoln, reproduced partly in color.

Glorious News Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known.

It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, liver, kidneys, and pews! expels, poisons, helps digestion builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by R. E. McRoberts Druggist. Guaranteed

High Grade Entertainments. All lovers of high class entertainments should take advantage of the following proposition which may be found at McRoberts drug store: "We the undersigned agree to pay $1.50 each for reserved seats to the Lancaster Lyceum Course which includes Spillman Riggs, Dec. 21, 1899 in "The Funny Side of Life," Uncle Josh Picture Play Co., Feb. 8, 1900 and Dr. A. A. Willits, March 20, 1900, on "Sunshine." All to be given in the Garrard Opera House. The course will cost $2.50 if taken separately." Riggs gave perfect satisfaction to all during his recent lecture here and should have a crowded house on his return. His program will be entirely new. The Uncle Josh Co. is the laughing success of the state. It will be the most popular entertainment given in the Opera House this season. Dr. A. A. Willits stands without a peer as an entertainer. For over forty years he has stood in the front rank as a lecturer. He goes direct from Lancaster to Nashville, Tenn., where he is booked for one week. Ask those who have heard him about his ability to please all. Go at once and sign the proposition.

We have received many compliments on our pretty line of Dress Goods, and feel justly proud of the large trade we have had this fall. J. JOSEPH.

I will take steps against those owing me, if debts are not paid at once. This business must be closed up, and I mean what I say. G. S. GAINES.

The Lancaster Dairy is proving a great success. Many people have sold their greatest annoyance, the cow, and have the dairy people deliver fresh milk at their door twice a day.

Joe Huffman, one of the oldest and best barbers, has taken down his red, white and blue sign in Lancaster and gone to the soldiers home in Ohio. He is quite old, and says he wants to spend his few remaining days in rest.

Envious. A Bourbon county paper claims that a citizen of that county has a dog that climbs apple trees, shakes off the apples and then gathers them into a heap. We don't want the dog because we have no apples trees, but we envy Bourbon county the possession of so gifted a liar.—Winchester Democrat.

A Paint Lick Enterprise. Adams' Fistula Salve, put up by Adams & Fish, Paint Lick, is meeting with ready sale every where. Persons who have used it say it's a marked success and a sure cure for Fistula, Pile, Swinney, Scatiches, Enlargement, Greasy Heel, etc. It is sold on a written guarantee, and money refunded if not as represented. For sale by R. E. McRoberts, Lancaster.

Great Game Thursday. The old rivals, Centre College and Central University, will have a Thanksgiving game of football at Danville today. The game will be called at half past two o'clock, sharp. It will be a hot contest from start to finish and many old students are expected to go and see the battle. Central University will send a big delegation to Danville by special train. All of the preliminaries, players, etc., have been agreed to. Additional interest is lent to the occasion because C. U. last week beat Washington and Lee by a decisive score.

A. H. Thuaness, Mgr. Wills Creek Coal Co., Buffalo, Ohio, writes: I have been affected with Kidney and Bladder trouble for years, passing gravel or stones, accompanied by excruciating pains. Other medicine only gave temporary relief. After taking Foley's Kidney Cure, the result was surprising. A few doses started the brick dust, little fine stones, etc. and now I have no pain across my kidneys and feel like a new man. Foley's Kidney Cure has done me $1000 worth of good. C. C. & J. E. Slightly Mixed. The editor of Cleveland newspaper lives in a house located between : Methodist church and a dance hall. One evening recently there was a gathering at both places. It being too warm for comfort inside the editor sat on the veranda and took in the situation. This was what he heard:

"Let us pray—all salute—we beseech thee join hands and draw near—circle to the left—listen to us—first four forward and back—as we—all promenade—kneel before thee and—balance all—present your petition—grand right and left—for Christ's sake—seat your partners."

The editor was more than saddened and went to join the base ball club in order to be neutral.—Union City Commercial.

Dr. H. H. Haden, Summit, Ala. says: "I think Kodol Dyspepsia Cure is a splendid medicine. I prrscribed it, and my confidence in it grows with continued use." It digests what you eat and quickly cures dyspepsia and indigestion. F. P. Frisbie. 1m Favors Should Be Returned. An exchange says: You seldom hear the public say anything in favor of their local newspaper. But the local newspaper is always favoring the public. And how quick the local paper hears of it, if by accident an error appears, but if the public or its officials make a blunder they must not go in the local newspaper, because the local newspaper would lose its head. Nobody but local newspaper editors make blunders: the rest of the populace doeth all things well. A great many people who know how to edit a newspaper are somehow in positions on the top of dry goods boxes.

August Flower.

"It is a surprising fact," says Prof. Houton, "that in my travels in all parts of the world, for the last years, I have met more people, having used Green's August Flower than any other remedy, for dyspepsia, deranged liver and stomach, and for constipation. I find for tourists and salesmen, or for persons filling office positions, where headaches and general bad feelings from irregular habits exist, that Green's August Flower is a grand remedy. It does not injure the system by frequent use, and is excellent for sour stomachs and indigestion." Sample bottles free at J. E. Stormes' Drug Store. Sold by dealers in all civilized countries.

Mr and Mrs N T Grow visited Mr. Nute Grow, and family, of Judson, Saturday and Sunday.

Rev. Neal, of Winchester, filled his appointment at Scotts Fork, 2nd Sunday.... W J McGarvey, of Lexington, gave an interesting lecture at Scotts Fork last Wednesday night on Palestine, and other interesting things.

The children and relatives of J M Saunders, greatly surprised him Sunday morning, it being his 70th birthday day. All present seemed to have a jolly time until the midday hour arrived, and an elegant dinner was spread, which was prepared by the children and taken from their homes, of which all present partook, abundantly, and had plenty left over, plenty to have fed the remainder of his relatives who were not present, as it seemed impossible for them to have been there. His children present were Mrs N B Coy, of Kirksville, Mrs. Frank Pierce, of Buckeye, J M Saunders, of Hiattsville, T L and J W Saunders. They are all his children living now, after dinner the photographer was present and they had the picture of the family and the old homestead taken, after all was over and night approached, all returned to their respective homes except Mesdames Coy and Pierce, who remained with him over night. All wished him many happy returns of his birthday as they departed.

Don't Risk Your Life.

The children and relatives of J M Saunders, greatly surprised him Sunday morning, it being his 70th birthday day. All present seemed to have a jolly time until the midday hour arrived, and an elegant dinner was spread, which was prepared by the children and taken from their homes, of which all present partook, abundantly, and had plenty left over, plenty to have fed the remainder of his relatives who were not present, as it seemed impossible for them to have been there. His children present were Mrs N B Coy, of Kirksville, Mrs. Frank Pierce, of Buckeye, J M Saunders, of Hiattsville, T L and J W Saunders. They are all his children living now, after dinner the photographer was present and they had the picture of the family and the old homestead taken, after all was over and night approached, all returned to their respective homes except Mesdames Coy and Pierce, who remained with him over night. All wished him many happy returns of his birthday as they departed.

Modest Women

Modesty in women is no less a charm than beauty and wit. Is it any wonder that women afflicted with physical disorders peculiar to their sex shrink from personal examinations by male physicians? The weaknesses and irregularities of women may be recognized by certain unfailing symptoms. Backache, headache, bearing-down pains, irritability and extreme nervousness indicate derangement of the delicate female organism. Bradfield's Female Regulator is the standard remedy for characteristic diseases of women. Sold by druggists at $1.50 per bottle. THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., Atlanta, Ga.

Crutcher & Beard bought a few good mules at from $75 to $100. Sid Turner also bought some at these prices.... Mr. Marten Lester, one of the leading farmers of the Rose Hill neighborhood, was in town yesterday, and in talking with the Democrat said that some of the wheat in his section was suffering from the fly and was as yellow almost as at harvest time. Mr. G. B. Poulter, of Bohon, says a sure way to prevent fly from getting in the wheat is to wait until there has been a frost before showing. If this is always done there will be no fly in wheat, he says.

It will not be a surprise to any who are at all familiar with the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy, to know that people everywhere take pleasure in relating their experience in the use of that splendid medicine and in telling of the benefit they have received from it, of bad colds it has cured, of threatened attacks of pneumonia it has averted and of the children it has saved from attacks of croup and whooping cough. It is a grand, good medicine. For sale by R. E. McRoberts, Druggist. 1m

COLUMBIA'S THANKSGIVING.

OUR RIVERS flow down thro' a land loved in story
And rich in the legends by tongue yet untold;
Our mountains rise skyward in garments of glory,
Our harvests have yielded their treasures of gold.

The bells of Thanksgiving are gratefully ringing.
The Nation rejoices in outbursts of song.
The praises of Plenty the millions are singing
Wherever the grateful in thankfulness throng;
No famine encroaches, no shadow of sorrow
Falls darkly and grimly on hearts of dismay;
A promise of plenty we have for to-morrow
As full as Columbia's garner to-day.

A people united from ocean to ocean,
From Florida's lakes to the northernmost line,
We bow to our Father with hearts of devotion
For His gifts to the land of the cedar and pine;
S Jehovah hath kept us from National danger,
We've grown with the years beneath Liberty's tree;
Our voice has been heard in the land of the stranger,
Our cannon have shaken the isles of the sea.

To-day we remember the good Thou hast given,
Nor do we vaingloriously boast of our might;
The humblest who stands in the sunlight of Heaven
Neath the banner we love is a king in His sight;
The woodman who dwells in his cot on the mountain
To-day is the peer of the nabob below;
We are free from the brink of the Illinois' d' fountain,
To the land of the beautiful mountains of snow.

Our Father, we thank Thee; the hearts of the people
With gratitude beat in the home, at the shrine,
And silver-toned bells from the towering steeples
Are chanting with fervor the anthem divine;
We see when we look over hilltop and river
A banner that gleams in the light of the sun,
With stars in its blue that will glitter forever,
And crowned with a love that its story hath won.

May ever the Nation remember the story,
How it in the throes of the battle was born;
May every Thanksgiving but add to its glory,
Already as fair as the birth of the Morn;
We come as a people to Gratitude's altar,
Devoted and thankful, true, righteous and free;
When our homes are impelled not a hero will falter,
For God will be with us on land and on sea.

T. C. HARBAUGH.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES.

First Turkey—Oh, cheer up, old man; you are superstitious.
Second Turkey—No, I'm not superstitious, but when I pick up cranberries by the kitchen door three days in succession it makes me kinder melancholy.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Mercenary Satisfaction.
"I suppose you will enjoy your Thanksgiving dinner?"
"I'll enjoy several hundred of 'em," answered the complacent citizen.
"Not all at once?"
"Yes. I run a poultry farm."—Washington Post.

VERY DIFFERENT INDEED.

Mr. Tawker Still Says "Nothing is as It Used to Be."

THANKSGIVING day always found Mr. Tawker in a reminiscent mood, and this particular Thanksgiving day was no exception to the rule. So full, indeed, of nostalgic thoughts was he that he failed to notice the subdued air of excitement about his wife. When the dinner bell at last rang he took his place dreamily at the table.

"Ah! this is very different from the old-time Thanksgiving days," he sighed; "really, it's enough to disgust a man with life. Why, even the turkeys are smaller than they used to be when I was a boy down in Indiana! We had turkeys then; why, one of 'em would have filled the middle of this table!"

"But, Neeser, dear," his wife said—his name was Ebenezer, and she called him Neeser for short—"your father's family was larger, too. A 17-pound turkey would be too much for two people."

"Ah, it's very well for you to apologize; you haven't the same standards of comparison."

"BRING ME THE HOE," HE SAID.
son—things naturally grow smaller in Delaware. Luckily, I don't complain. Will you have some bread?" He laid down the carving knife with a resigned air. "Bring me the hoe," he said. "I suppose we have a hoe?"

"Of course we have it. What should we do with a hoe in a third flat? Isn't the knife sharp?"

"I can manage it; exercise is good for the appetite. However, divorces have ensued from slithering causes. Yes, I remember hearing my Uncle Tom say that dull knives caused sharp words. But I'm sure the turkey is tender. Your mother said—"

"Mother never saw this one. The consequence of the butcher isn't tender if he says this bird is. What's the matter?"

"Oh, Neeser, your mother sent it for a surprise!"

Mr. Tawker gave a laugh like that of an amateur actor. "I—er—guessed that the turkey was from mother, and—ah—wanted to tease you a little. Yes, the turkey's all right, if I had a knife such as my father had. I'll see the man that sold you this knife to-morrow; he'd cheat his grandmother, and I'll tell him so. What is it now?"

A THANKSGIVING SOCIAL.

'Twas Only That Which Had Been Betty They Found After It.

LET me see," Mrs. Harrison said, as she leaned back in her chair, "I expect I've told you all the news, unless you ain't heard about Betty Baker yet?"

"Why, no, I haven't," Mrs. Bowers replied; "you see, I've been away long that most everything's news to me. Is she busy with a church social?"

"Yes, an' her daughter Mary came back from boarding school, knowing everything, and more, about a year ago. How poor Betty did love to work for th' church! She told me once that sometimes she was so tired that she had to lie down—that was when the other members of th' committee 'ud have 'er leave th' church basement just when they were busiest getting up a social an' go home 't get a meal for their husbands an' children. But I must say that Betty was a good worker when she had her own way. Of course, you haven't heard anything, so I'll begin at th' beginning."

When Mary Hawkins came home from school she sort of seemed as if she'd like to run things in th' church. It worried Betty a good deal, I could see. Well, it was decided that we must raise some money for the new carpet in th' Sunday school room, so th' minister said th' ladies had best get up a Thanksgiving social of some kind. I knew Betty would be at th' head of it, so I went over on Monday morning 't talk it over. I was hardly seated when Betty said: 'It'll have to be a fair, Martha; they make th' most money. We can have a Rebecca cut in th' ark, at once? Mary Hawkins cut in. 'Yes, we decided on a progressive conversation party, Miss Betty,' Mrs. Porter said, kind of conciliating. 'But I can't get up a progressive conversation party, Betty told 'em; we could have a museum, if th' young people wanted.' Mary Hawkins tossed her head; then Sally Towser took it up. 'We knew that,' she said, 'so we'll manage it. Mary Hawkins has been to 'em; they're mighty tony now.' I saw through it all along, but it seemed as if Betty just couldn't make it out. When she did, an' they left, I had th' best of th' day. Th' doctor thought she wasn't dangerous, an' when

THEY FOUND HER ON ONE OF THE GRAVES.
Thanksgiving night came I left old Milly with her an' slipped over 't th' social. I must say it was a success; but, about ten, somebody came 't say th' boys had got up some kind of a ghost in th' graveyard, just for meanness."

"Them Peters boys, I bet!"

"So we thought. When it was all over I came out behind Mary Hawkins 'n' Roy Greene an' met Milly, saying she'd been asleep an' woke up 't find Betty gone. Then we remembered that when Betty was sick, Mary found her on one of th' graves. 'Oh, here's Miss Betty!' she called. But it was only what had been Betty!"

BOYHOOD OF DREYFUS.

A One-Time Playmate of the Captain Tells of His School Days in His Native Town.

Louis Perrot, a Pittsburgh florist, is probably more interested in the progress of the Dreyfus trial than any other Pittsburgh citizen. His interest arises from the fact that he was a playmate of Dreyfus in the town of Mulhouse, Alsace, says the Philadelphia Times. He, of course, hopes for the acquittal of his former comrade in boyish sports. Of Dreyfus he says:

"He was very popular. His father was a dry goods merchant, rich and prominent in the town. Dreyfus and I attended the same school. Then the studies were all in French. After the war between France and Germany both French and German were taught for a time, and then only German. I think it was during the war, or shortly after, that Dreyfus was sent away to college. I did not see him any more until he was a young man, and then not to talk to him. He came home for a time, and I remember seeing him about the town in his college cap and gown. That was the last I knew of him until I began to read about his trial."

"While we were in school as boys we played such games as schoolboys usually do, and it was only during play that I saw anything of Dreyfus. While the war was in progress we all wore the red, white and blue and were enthusiastic for France. I do not recall that Dreyfus was more or less enthusiastic than the rest of us in this matter, but that he was thoroughly French is shown by his having become a French soldier after Alsace became German territory."

LIMESTONE WOOL.

One of the wonders of the Century and its Accidental Discovery.

The conversion of the flintiest, roughest limestone into soft, white wool is one of the wonders of the century which will shortly appear in a practical way to the manufacturer, says the New York Telegraph. Wonderful and almost impossible as it may seem, this process is being carried on successfully by a man who expects his discovery to revolutionize the wool and cloth manufacturing industries.

The discoverer was making some tests of stone and was using heat and chemicals to analyze them. He happened upon a limestone which, when subjected to the tests, acted unexpectedly. The usual course of stone under the conditions he was submitting it to is to become quicklime, but in this instance it ran into a lava. To all outward appearance the stone was common building stone. It had been used in many buildings, but it had a chemical quality that was very different.

NO CAUCUS NECESSARY.
Kansas Politician's Characteristic Proposal Accepted in Short Order.

A prominent politician of the Sunflower state who, according to a local exchange, has been happily married for over a year sent the following unique proposal to the object of his adoration: "My Dear Miss —: I hereby announce myself as a candidate for your hand, and I shall use all fair and honorable means to secure the nomination. I know there are many candidates in the field and I hesitated long before entering the race, but now I'm in it. To state my views on love and matrimony have often been expressed in your hearing in an emphatic way. If you decide to confer upon me the honor I speak of please fix a date for a caucus with your mother. I have no objection to her acting as temporary chairman, provided it is clearly understood that I am to be chairman of the permanent organization. Should the results of the caucus prove satisfactory we can soon hold the primaries and select the date and other points on the earth's surface. The land projects into the Atlantic and makes hasty sailing along that coast in bad weather, and there have been terrible disasters from time to time; therefore, Capt. Sukeforth says that Cape Hatteras has unjustly got a bad name. He has been sailing this course for a number of years—I have forgotten how many—and declares that he has never met with a gale in the latitude of Hatteras."

The following telegram answered: "Caucus unnecessary; nomination unanimous; come at once and fix the date of ratification."

The Storms of Cape Hatteras.
Another popular belief has been disposed of. "Stormy Hatteras" has long been a terror to ocean voyagers. But William E. Curtis, who has just made a trip past it, writes: "The voyage from New York is delightful. People always expect a little weather off Cape Hatteras, but the captain of our ship says that is a popular delusion. He declares that Hatteras has no more storms than any other point on the earth's surface. The land projects into the Atlantic and makes hasty sailing along that coast in bad weather, and there have been terrible disasters from time to time; therefore, Capt. Sukeforth says that Cape Hatteras has unjustly got a bad name. He has been sailing this course for a number of years—I have forgotten how many—and declares that he has never met with a gale in the latitude of Hatteras."

Lily of the Valley Poison.
That delightfully fragrant and graceful flower, the lily of the valley, is denounced by the German papers, as under its simple beauty veiling a deadly poison. It is stated that both the stalks and the flowers of this lovely plant contain prussic acid.

Thanksgiving Jars

BY MANDA L. CROCKER

LENA turned back to the dresser where Aunt Marcia was deep in the sweet mysteries of fruit cake. "Can't a person be thankful in any other way than to pile up wonderful dishes until the very tables groan, auntie? It just looks to me like an offering to appetite."

"Child!" exclaimed Mrs. Marcia Stevenson, pausing with one floury hand half way in the currant bag, "who could have a Thanksgiving without a fine dinner? Besides, there's the sermon!" and she looked rather quizzically at her progressive niece.

"Oh, yes, I know there's a devotional frontpiece."

There was a queer little vein of sarcasm in the girl's reply, which assured anything but ease of conscience for the instance.

The floury hand was slowly withdrawn from the fruit bag, overflowing with the sugary contents, and a half puzzled look crossed the face of the cake baker, but no response was forthcoming.

In the silence which followed Lena went softly upstairs, the spicy appetizing odors of Thanksgiving preparations following her, as if to sanction her convictions.

"I don't care, I believe I am right," she said, supplementing the conversation of the kitchen to suit herself. "Now, there's Aunt Marcia, for instance, she waved her hand toward the stairway as if to call the attention of invisible auditors, she always makes such a great parade of her dainties on Thanksgiving and never mentions the sermon unless it be, indeed, to hope the minister will get through before the turkey is overdone."

And then, giving a knowing nod to the face in the mirror opposite, "there's her annual jar of extra flavored mince-meat expressly for Thanksgiving pies, remembering the blue jar on the back of the dresser."

"There's no devotion in that, of course not," but I believe I am right," she said, supplementing the conversation of the kitchen to suit herself.

"I don't care, I believe I am right," she said, supplementing the conversation of the kitchen to suit herself.

THANKSGIVING

THE emerald forest, leaves of spring, painted later in all colors by an autumnal sun, have passed into the serene and yellow, falling leafless to the ground.

The harvest has come and the aftermath has passed, and the people of the great republic are prospering as never before in all the wondrous history of development of this God-favored people.

The president and the governors of all the states, following an example established by Washington and confirmed by Lincoln and his successors, have issued proclamations calling upon all the people of all the states to remember the generous kindness of the Giver of all.

By returning unto Him prayers of thanksgiving for the blessings He has vouchsafed so freely to the nation.

Americans, properly and wisely doubtless, may differ as to proper lines of domestic and foreign policy, but all who are here have a common heritage, and owe their homage to the one common Source of all that is received.

Thanksgiving day is peculiarly anomalous in this, that the United States, alone in all the nations in that it gives official recognition to no religion and utters recognition of no God in all the universe, is the only one of all the nations which annually and unbrokenly sets apart a day in which to return grateful thanks to the one God of us all for His mercies and His blessings.

Here is no compulsion—no law exacting outward form of worship, or penalty for failure to comply. The proclamations are suggestive, or advisory only, in their nature. Yet, left free to this action, the spectacle will be observed to-day, as in similar past anniversaries, that citizens of all creeds, Catholics, Protestants, Hebrews, Shintoists and Confucians, will gather each in their own place of assembly and carry out a programme of worship, designed to show gratitude for the Divine goodness.

All minor differences of religions and political and religious faith disappear before the majesty of God's goodness and faith in Him, and in a free country that is common and dear to all.

It is not well or wise to say that God has favored this people above all other peoples, for such would be vaunting of one's self above others. It is competent, though, to reflect that God has raised up on this continent within an incredibly short period a great and mighty nation; that He has caused His face to shine upon them and made them to flourish as a green bay tree by the water's edge.

He who receives with a thankful heart has no appeal to confidence of his fellows and is unworthy the esteem of any who are reputed to be good. Ingratitude is the privilege of kings, as it has been said, and of those who think their pleasures the highest obligation of their nature.

Yet this people is not ungrateful. It is a God-fearing people. Whether north or south, or east, or west, all looking from the grave of the loved that is dead to the star whose light tends to strengthen the ever and forever of man's existence. Whether in snow-girt Alaska, or amid the sunshine of the southland, or watered by Atlantic or Pacific—here and there, and in all places of the states, Thanksgiving day is honored and observed in spirit and in letter. And this year, first of all the years, the observance of it is borne over the waves to islands where now floats the tri-color flag of freedom. Blessed is that nation whose God is the Lord, for from such He will withhold no thing that is good.

WILLIAM ROSSER COBBE.
KING OR QUEEN?

THEIR Thanksgiving comes in the sweetest hour of the year. Together life's pathway they'll roam. They merrily wish at their dainty love's With spirits light as the foam.

But their wishes are blended with hope and fears, As to which one shall rule their home! Up-to-date.

Where is his home? Thanksgiving day has come and gone With Fortune's smile and frown. The turkey's "got it in the neck." The turkey's "got it in the neck."

Butchered to Make a Holiday. The gobbler's life is full of woes, Thanksgiving's now on deck. He's feeling blue because he knows He'll get it in the neck.

A NICE PROSPECT. Gobbler—Oh, you feel tickled over Thanksgiving coming, don't you? Boy—Yes, and when it gets here you'll feel very much cut up over it.—N. Y. Her.

year, by counting the slips of paper and being "thankful all over again." She was afraid her thankfulness was little better than Aunt Marcia's, after all.

"We have drifted right into it," laughed Nell as they stood together in the impromptu ante-room of the hall. They were busy putting on dainty white caps and aprons to match. "I did not want to wait on the table to-day," and the laugh faded into something like discontent on the pretty face.

"I should think not," Lena was absently running a snowy apron string through her fingers and putting a little. "I don't know what ails the day," jerking the string for emphasis. "I meant to be so glad and thankful and—I am a total failure! Everything jars on me so discordantly; I guess I am all out of tune. I wish I had—"

"But Lena was peeping through the half open door, her eyes resting on handsome Ben Waite, while her heart found a chord which was sweet harmony itself. Nell waited around a little, trying hard to dodge discordant notes in the day's psalm, while her friend was reckoning to herself in this wise: "I must count my mercies."

"THERE'S SOME MISTAKE," SHE M-AGED TO SAY.

If they are to have an experience meeting. I can send Ben; I can trust him.

A sweet flush went over the fair cheek as she remembered that somewhere near the bottom of the blue china rose jar Ben was mentioned as "the" blessing of her life.

And all Orne had mentioned the matter also, but a little differently, when the prophecy went forth that "wedding bells would ring before Christmas."

Uncle Leonard was preparing to go over to the hall when a cheery voice came merrily through the kitchen doorway. "Miss Lena wants the blue jar; some sort of a Thanksgiving institution. She forgot it this morning."

"All right," answered Uncle Leonard from the sitting-room, where he was putting on his overcoat. He was very busy with a refractory buckle and did not notice that Ben went lightly upstairs and hurried out with the desired article in a trice.

By and by the buckle was adjusted and Uncle Leonard came out and cogitated. "The Thanksgiving institution," he said, half aloud; "that means Marcia's extra mince jar. Blue, yes, of course. As if I couldn't find that jar in the darkest night, as many years as I've known where it sets. I reckon the pies must be given out, or autumn."

Uncle Leonard waddled down cellar quite briskly for him. He meant to meet the agencies of the case if possible, for he knew if Marcia wanted that jar it must be forthcoming.

Twenty minutes later he came puffing into the hall, and, not seeing his wife, deposited the precious burden on the end of one of the long tables, and, seeing the label, flanked on either side by a stack of odorous pumpkin pies.

More than one curious glance rested on Uncle Leonard's addition to the dinner; but, as no one was quite certain, nothing was said until the mince was well under way.

Then Penelope Johnson, the one inquisitive maiden lady of Orne, who sat next to the mysterious dish, gingerly lifted the embroidered doily with which Uncle Leonard had covered it, and, seeing the label, concluded that the choicest of preserves reposed therein. Having settled this to her satisfaction, she beckoned to Lena, who was flitting like a bright butterfly about an adjoining table; then, turning back the doily, she waited, inwardly glad that Providence had cast her lines in such a plentiful place.

At that moment Aunt Marcia, seeing something was expected, came forward from where she was dishing cranberry sauce, and Penelope called her attention to the jar.

At sight of the familiar object Aunt Marcia's face was a "study in scarlet." "There's some mistake," she managed to say, gathering up the pride of her life and bearing it to the ante-room.

The elderly ladies of Orne smiled knowingly as they recognized the famous blue receptacle, but they could not tell the why of the wherefore for the life of them.

Aunt Marcia was humiliated. The smile which went around the feminine circle cut her to the heart.

But Penelope, unwittingly, resolved the smile into a demure little titter by curiously wondering "where she was going to with them preserves?"

"That's Leonard!" snapped Aunt Marcia, half crying, nodding to the array of cloaks in the corner. "If it wasn't Thanksgiving I'd haul him over the coals for this; but then—stopping short to think—"what possessed him, anyway?"

Wiping the tears off her face, she suddenly concluded that she didn't understand it at all. She would wait; hidden things would be made manifest; the Scriptures said so. Then some spirit of mischief, whispered: "And pride goeth before a fall."

SECTIONAL FEELING.

The Old Man Wouldn't Ride in the Same Car with Such a Fellow's Funeral Wreath.

The other day an east-bound car was just turning on to Erie street when a natty young colored man climbed aboard, bearing proudly before him a wreath of red and white roses. It was a beautiful thing and huge in its dimensions, says the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

He laid it tenderly down across the front seats and sat beside it, facing the other people in the car. An old gentleman sitting one seat back, who had been watching the performance with much interest, suddenly leaned forward.

"That wreath from Blank's?" he questioned. "Umph." "Thought so. Funeral?" "Umph."

"You're mighty proud of it, ain't ye?" The colored man looked a trifle surprised, but admitted that he was.

Which admission seemed to rouse the old gentleman to wrath. "I know where that wreath's goin'," he announced to the other passengers; "it's goin' up to John Dash's, and he ought to be ashamed of himself, too, gettin' flowers from a downtown florist. We've got plenty of good florists out 'n East Cleveland. He ain't any more respectable dead 'n he was alive, John Dash ain't and I won't even ride to the car with his funeral wreath!"

With which remark the protector of East end merchants actually climbed laboriously out of the car, leaving the other passengers in a high state of glee, and the colored boy so astonished he couldn't get his mouth properly shut for four whole blocks.

ENGLAND'S SPINSTERS.

Many of Our Lady Cousins Across the Pond Live in Single Blessedness.

The number of single women in England constantly increases. Many thousands of women have to earn their own living in place of spending and husbanding the earnings of men. They pass their time in an incomplete and separate existence of their own, instead of completing and embellishing the existence of others. From the excess in the number of women, thousands take service in factories, while others overcrowd the ill-paid ranks of needlewomen and seamstresses.

Even in the richer classes, says a London exchange, there is the same inequality of numbers, and those who are relieved from the necessity of working for their daily bread have yet to seek some occupation, some interest in life, to relieve the tedium of an objectless existence. Some pursue pleasure merely, though this soon pall on the appetite; others take to charitable pursuits, doing, perchance, an equal amount of good and mischief. Those whose tastes lead them to literary or artistic pursuits are perhaps the least unhappy.

That a redundancy of unmarried women exists is evident, but it must not be regarded as caused wholly or mainly by a disparity in the number of the sexes. This difference does not, at the most, amount to six per cent; whereas, the number of unmarried women in England amounts not to six, but actually to 30 per cent—that is to say, only two out of every three women are ever married.

A GIFT CAUSED GRIEF. The Girl for Whom the Queen's Present Was Intended Never Got Sight of It.

Perhaps no queen has been the recipient of more amusing letters than Margherita of Italy, nor can any member of royalty better appreciate a joke than her majesty. A little note which came recently has gone the rounds of the court. It appears that while taking a promenade the queen's attention was attracted by a chubby little girl. She called her to her side and inquired what she could do in the way of needlework, says the Pittsburgh News.

"I can knit stockings, signora," came the confident reply. "Do you know who I am?" "Yes, signora; you are the queen."

"Well, then, make me a pair of stockings and send them to the palace." The stocking vendor, and the queen sent the girl by way of reward a pair of rose-colored stockings, one containing bonbons, the other money. The next evening brought this letter from the little knitter:

"Signora: Your gift has caused me tears. My father collared the money, my elder brother the sweets, and my mother put the stockings on herself."

English Deceptions. Everybody knows that suicide is unknown in England. It exists without existing, as it were, says Bordeaux La France. When on the other side of the channel a person is found asphyxiated by charcoal fumes, or lying in a pool of blood with his arteries opened, or strung up to the branch of a tree, an inquiry is held, and it is solemnly laid down that the deceased succumbed to a fit of temporary insanity; for it would be immoral for an Englishman to commit suicide, and shocking to relate the fact.
